Climate and Business Forum:

From Transition to Transformation – Growing a Business in a Changing Climate

As the global economy shifts toward sustainability, businesses must adapt to climate change, with reports showing that climate-related risks could cost companies up to $1 trillion by 2025.

IGF ME&A 2024 Climate and Business Forum will explore how businesses can drive sustainable growth by integrating climate action into their core strategies.

Join business leaders and experts across India, the Middle East, Africa and beyond to uncover the importance of innovative solutions, global partnerships, and proactive measures to balance economic expansion with environmental stewardship.
